

Charles D. Roberson
Head of Enterprise Expense Management and Offshoring,
Corporate Finance Group
Wells Fargo & Company

Charlie Roberson is Executive Vice President and Head of Enterprise Expense Management and Offshoring for the Corporate Finance Group.

A 22-year veteran of the company, Charlie assumed his current role in October 2011. From July 2007 to September of 2011, he was head of Strategic Planning, Accounting, Finance and Enterprise Offshore. From April 2006 to July 2007, he was head of Financial Planning and Analysis for Corporate Finance. From June 2002 to April 2006, he was Senior Finance Manager of Community Banking, which included Regional Banking, Diversified Products Group, Private Client Services and Internet Services Group. From 2000 to 2002, he was Group Finance Officer of Western Banking. He was also Group Finance Officer of Southwestern Banking with responsibility for Arizona, New Mexico and Texas in 1998 after the Wells Fargo-Norwest merger.

He joined the Ford Bank Group, Inc. (subsequently purchased by Norwest Bank, N.A.) in 1990 as Group Controller. He held a number of financial management positions at Norwest Bank Texas.

A Texas native, Charlie earned his bachelor's degree in accounting from Texas Tech University and is a Certified Public Accountant.