

AdventNet Development Centre

A specialist in the area of network management, security management, online productivity tools, DB migration and software testing.

The product: AdventNet is offering customers Zoho, an on-line suite of Web services aimed at increasing the productivity of individuals and enterprises. Most of Zoho's applications are now free for use and it eliminates the customer's (personal users as well as businesses) need for expensive desktop applications.

The innovation: Zoho Creator, one of Zoho's Web services helps in creating on-line database applications in minutes. It aims to combine Microsoft Access and Visual Basic functionalities on the Web and is assisted with a scripting language called "Deluge."

Customer speak

"In my opinion, Zoho CRM blows its competition out of the water. The software offers everything its competitors do for a price that is affordable for any business owner. I would highly recommend any business that does any type of sales activity to make Zoho CRM their on-line software of choice."
