

Vikas Kamra
Co Founder and CEO,
Valiance Solutions

I am one of the co-founders @ data analytics firm Valiance. My professional experience has transcended many fields. I have been programmer, analyst, technology head before co-founding Valiance. Currently i head sales and marketing business functions with occasional dips into product delivery, technology and solution design. I love the way technology can be used to solve different business problems. Nothing beats excitement of seeing your solution work!

We are always looking out for passionate and smart people who can fuel our growth and customer success.