Pushpinder Singh
CEO,
Travelkhana

Master technologist, Strategist and Visionary. Has a unique ability to bring together business strategy with technology.

Conceptualized the idea of a marketplace for travellers on the move. Travelkhana is the first India wide marketplace for people travelling and wanting to buy the meal of their choice through a wide variety of restaurants enroute. Got the team, Railways, GMR (Delhi Airport) and restaurants across a network of 130 cities interested and signing in.

This is writing new rules in the way people travel in the country.

I have had the privilege to participating and solving a variety of technology problems and products - from high performance server systems, world leading desktop publishing products to creating successful technology strategy and architecture for peer to peer mobile video chat service.

These days my area of interest in technology is human behaviour and how should Business, User interfaces and Technology evolve themselves to cater to what people want, care about and are interested in.

Specialties: Strategy; Software Architecture; Scale engineering; Low latency infrastructure; Strategic Management & Planning; Usability; Core Telecom (NGOSS, SDP)